The Cohen Center for Modern Jewish Studies (CMJS), founded in 1980, is dedicated to providing independent, high-quality research on issues related to contemporary Jewish life.

The Cohen Center is also the home of the Steinhardt Social Research Institute (SSRI). Established in 2005, SSRI uses innovative research methods to collect and analyze socio-demographic data on the Jewish community.

Technical Appendix B: Methodology

Sample frame
In summer 2020, 22,767 Jewish young adults from the United States applied to go on a Birthright Israel trip to Israel. All trips were cancelled in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. These applicants form the sample frame for two separate surveys conducted to examine the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic on Jewish young adults. The first survey was conducted in June-July and the second in September 2020.

June-July 2020 survey
The sample
A random sample of 8,475 US applicants was selected to be included in the June-July survey. Sampled individuals were randomly assigned to one of two replicates with varying incentive conditions:

- Replicate 1 (N=6,977) – entered in a lottery to win a $100 Amazon.com gift card or have $100 donated to “Mazon: a Jewish response to hunger” or The American Red Cross.
- Replicate 2 (N=1,498) – receive a $10 Amazon gift card or have $10 donated to “Mazon: a Jewish response to hunger” or The American Red Cross.

Data collection
The survey was administered online using the Qualtrics online survey platform and CMJS’s survey management system. Respondents were invited to participate in the survey via an email message containing a unique link to their survey. Text messages were utilized as reminders and pre-notifications. Follow-up phone calls encouraging individuals to complete the survey online were conducted with all members of Replicate 2 who had not completed the survey by the time phone calls were placed. Callers either spoke with potential respondents or left voice messages describing the study. Unless a respondent requested otherwise, a follow-up email with a link to the survey was also sent. The survey closed July 13, 2020. Communication with respondents is summarized in Table B1.

September 2020 Survey

The sample

A separate random sample of 7,200 US applicants was selected to be included in the September survey. Sampled individuals were randomly assigned to one of two replicates with varying incentive conditions:

- Replicate 1 (N=4,200) – entered in a lottery to win a $100 Amazon.com gift card or have $100 donated to “Mazon: a Jewish response to hunger” or The American Red Cross.
- Replicate 2 (N=3,000) – receive a $10 Amazon gift card or have $10 donated to “Mazon: a Jewish response to hunger” or The American Red Cross.

Data collection

The survey was administered online using the Qualtrics online survey platform and CMJS’s survey management system. Respondents were invited to participate in the survey via an email message containing a unique link to their survey. Text messages were utilized as pre-notifications. Follow-up phone calls encouraging individuals to complete the survey online were conducted with a subsample (N=1,000) of Replicate 2. Calls were made to those who had not completed the survey by the time phone calls were placed. Callers either spoke with potential respondents or left voice messages describing the study. Unless a respondent requested otherwise, a follow-up email with a link to the survey was also sent. The survey closed September 21, 2020. Communication with respondents is summarized in Table B3.

Weighting
Nonresponse bias was assessed in reference to demographic data available for all members of the sample frame. In both surveys, women, those with at least one non-Jewish parent, and those ages 27-32 were significantly more likely to respond, while those who had paid their deposit to Birthright were less likely to respond.

Respondents to both surveys were thus weighted on gender, age, Jewish parentage, and whether they paid a deposit. Using a raking procedure, weights were calculated to adjust these variables to targets from the full population of 2020 Birthright applicants and thus correct for non-response bias associated with these variables.
Analysis Paradigm

The findings presented in the report draw on data collected from both surveys. Some questions were only asked in one of the two surveys, while others were asked in both. For questions asked in both surveys we sometimes report data from the two surveys separately, to illustrate changes in response patterns over the course of the summer. In other cases, especially where the differences in responses to the two surveys were not statistically significant, we aggregate responses from both surveys together.

The September survey was also sent to 544 individuals who responded to the June-July survey and who expressed interest in participating in future research. Of this group, 254 individuals responded to the September survey. To prevent selection bias associated with the decision to participate in future CMJS research from affecting results, these respondents were excluded from all analyses included in the report and from the response rate calculations described above.

Q1 Welcome Thank you for participating in this study about the impact of recent events in the US and the coronavirus crisis on Jewish young adults. We know this is a difficult time and we appreciate you sharing your experiences. Completing this survey will not benefit you directly. However, your responses are important and will help organizations understand how the lives of young Jews are affected.

What to expect This survey asks how your studies, work, health, and family life have changed and how you are coping with the crisis. The survey will take about 15-20 minutes to complete. You may find some questions about your experience with coronavirus upsetting. Your participation is voluntary and you are free to skip any question or end the survey at any time. To thank you for your time, once you complete the survey you will receive a $10 Amazon.com gift card or have $10 donated on your behalf to Mazon, a Jewish response to hunger or The American Red Cross. Confidentiality Any information you provide will remain strictly confidential and will only be reported in the aggregate. Only members of the research team will have access to individuals’ data that will be housed on secure servers at Brandeis University. Data that does not identify individuals will be used for the research purposes of this study and may be retained for future research.

Questions and concerns The study is being conducted by the Cohen Center for Modern Jewish Studies at Brandeis University. If you have any questions or concerns about the research, you can email us at yastudy@brandeis.edu or call 781-736-3821. If you have any questions or concerns about your rights as a participant, you may contact the Brandeis University Human Research Protection Program (781-736-8133, irb@brandeis.edu). This committee works to safeguard the interests of individuals who participate in Brandeis-sponsored research. To download a copy of this introductory message, which serves as your informed consent to participate in this research, please click here.

How to complete the survey Throughout the survey, please use the arrow buttons to move around in the survey. Do not use the Forward and Back buttons on your browser. If you need to take a break, simply close the browser window. Your responses will be saved and when you return the survey will start where you left off. To begin the survey please click the button below.

If Thank you for completing the survey, you are eligible for a $10 Amazon.com gift card. You may choose to either receive $10 on your behalf to Mazon: A Jewish response to hunger or The American Red Cross.

What to expect This survey asks about your health, studies, work, social interactions and views. The survey will take about 15-20 minutes to complete. You may find some questions about your experience with coronavirus upsetting. Your participation is voluntary and you are free to skip any question or end the survey at any time. To thank you for your time, once you complete the survey you will receive a $10 Amazon.com gift card or have $10 donated on your behalf to Mazon: A Jewish response to hunger or The American Red Cross.

Confidentiality Any information you provide will remain strictly confidential and will only be reported in the aggregate. Only members of the research team will have access to individuals’ data that will be housed on secure servers at Brandeis University. Data that does not identify individuals will be used for the research purposes of this study and may be retained for future research.

Questions and concerns The study is being conducted by the Cohen Center for Modern Jewish Studies at Brandeis University. If you have any questions or concerns about the research, you can email us at yastudy@brandeis.edu or call 781-736-3821. If you have any questions or concerns about your rights as a participant, you may contact the Brandeis University Human Research Protection Program (781-736-8133, irb@brandeis.edu). This committee works to safeguard the interests of individuals who participate in Brandeis-sponsored research. To download a copy of this introductory message, which serves as your informed consent to participate in this research, please click here.

How to complete the survey Throughout the survey, please use the arrow buttons to move around in the survey. Do not use the Forward and Back buttons on your browser. If you need to take a break, simply close the browser window. Your responses will be saved and when you return the survey will start where you left off. To begin the survey please click the button below.

BRIQPOD In the new COVID-19 reality, Birthright is considering new models for operating trips. Trips will follow Israeli government health guidelines (masks, limits on number of people in indoor spaces, etc.) and the advice of a panel of medical experts. In this proposed new model, a Birthright trip will last 15 days (including travel). After arrival, participants will quarantine in a 6-10 person pod in one location in Israel for up to 5 days. Then join with other Birthright pods and travel Israel for 10 days. Health guidelines (as described above) will be followed.

In this reality, how likely are you to go on such a trip?
